DISMISSAL OF TV TRANSLATOR LICENSEE CERTIFICATES OF ELIGIBILITY FOR CLASS A TELEVISION STATION STATUS

On November 29, 1999, the Community Broadcasters Protection Act of 1999 was signed into law. That legislation provides that a low power television station licensee may convert the secondary status of its station to the new Class A status, provided it can satisfy certain statutorily-established criteria.

To become eligible for a Class A certificate of eligibility, the licensee's station must, during the 90-day period ending November 28, 1999, have: (1) broadcast a minimum of 18 hours per day; (2) broadcast an average of at least three hours per week of programming produced within the market area served by the station or by a group of commonly-controlled low power television stations; and (3) been in compliance with the Commission's regulations applicable to the low power television service. The legislation also provided that licensees intending to seek Class A designation file a certification of eligibility with the Commission no later than January 28, 2000.

The following entities listed in the attached Appendix have filed statements of eligibility. However, these entities are or were licensees of television translator broadcast stations during the 90-day period ending November 28, 1999 and the Community Broadcasters Protection Act of 1999 limits Class A status eligibility to low power television station licensees. See Report and Order in MM Docket No. 00-10, entitled "Establishment of a Class A Television Service," 15 FCC Rcd 6355, 6369-70 (2000). Accordingly, the statements of eligibility are materially deficient and are dismissed.

While this action is mandated by statute, the Commission recognized in the Report and Order, that translators provide a valuable service, especially in rural areas. Therefore, the Commission announced its intention to institute a separate proceeding seeking comment on whether translators should be permitted to qualify for some form of primary status and what the eligibility requirements for such protection should be.
